

Comments from Coach Tagg Lain:

This program is a special opportunity for the youth athlete in Cheyenne. Due to the great support of our sponsors, parents, and local Legion Post 6 we can provide a wonderful experience to our players. I have had the honor to lead this program for 18 years, and look forward to my 19th season in 2012. I have enjoyed every minute of coaching the finest young men in the country. Baseball players are a special breed of athlete. These young men that represent Cheyenne and Post 6 are dedicated, loyal, positive young men. It is difficult to give up summers, and work for the good of a team. I am looking forward to this season and the future.

Our players come from every part of Cheyenne. We have players from all three high schools. The common thread for these players is that they love the game of baseball, they are dedicated to it, and they are not afraid of a challenge. I encourage all high school age players to come and be a part of something special here with Post 6.

Bio:

Tagg Lain has turned Post 6 into a state powerhouse. When he took over the program Cheyenne had not won a state title in over a decade. Since that time Post 6 has won 11 state championships, and played in 3 Regional finals. In addition, Post 6 has finished 2nd in the state 4 times. Lain left the program for 3 seasons in the mid 90's to focus on coaching at Central High School. In that time Central won state championships in men's basketball, and in track and field. He returned to the Legion program in 1998. In short order Lain restored Post 6 to the top of the state in baseball. Tagg is married to his wife Paige, and has 2 sons, Ty, and Zach.
